To whom it may concern,

During Brandon Smith's Summer Co-Op the Conservation and Demand Management Department asked all of the Engineering Departments of PowerStream to each put together a presentation. The presentations were to showcase each department, their roles and responsibilities, as well as teach other employees outside Engineering about PowerStream's core "Poles and Wires" business as an Electrical Utility.

Over the Summer Brandon was comfortable reading and presenting in front of our whole department during our monthly Safety Meetings, so, he was asked to create this presentation for the Inspections and Locates Department. During his work term Brandon prepared, organized, and created the presentation in a timely manner. He went out and took pictures and also collaborated with other employees who had pictures that they had taken in the past. He conducted his own independent research using a variety of PowerStream resources and also used resources from other external sources. In the end Brandon created a dynamic presentation that reflects positively on the Inspections and Locates Department and works towards PowerStream's "Journey to Excellence" which is a corporate initiative that is currently being implemented. I wish Brandon the best of luck in the future and hope he continues onward with success.

Best Regards,
